HALLIDAY - FRASER - MUNRO - ARCHITECTS

Scottish Architects Halliday Fraser Munro are offering virtual work experience to students who would like to experience what it is like to be an architect.

There are two tasks: one is to build the Farnsworth House which will then lead on to the Build a House for a Celebrity task. Students will need a laptop and pens, pencils and paper but all other resources are available to download freely. An excellent opportunity for budding architects which can be completed at any time.

SCAPE GROUP

The construction industry has had to close down due to social distancing measures, but the Scape Group is offering digital work experience. They have partnered with Class of Your Own, Learn Live and EDT (Engineering Development Trust) to introduce students to the hundreds of career pathways available, the excitement of real project delivery and the satisfaction gained from helping to create something that will both serve the community and leave a lasting legacy on the landscape. Every student will secure a recognised accreditation to put onto their CV.

It is a week-long virtual work experience programme starting on May 18th, 2020 and running for 5 days.

Class of Your Own will provide the syllabus, learning resources and guidance for teachers, schools and students. The week will be based around a design challenge for teams of young people that will utilise the full breadth of the STEM subjects.

Learn Live will manage the broadcast and interactive online experience to engage the thousands of participants.

The scheme has been fully audited and will provide all participating young people who submit an entry at the end of the week with a Silver Industrial Cadets award and become part of the national Industrial Cadets accreditation network.

REAL CHALLENGE

Speakers for Schools has joined with employers to offer virtual work experience programmes for students. The programme enables employers to solve real life business problems whilst delivering meaningful and structured work experience to students. The benefits to this are that students from all over the country have access to excellent work experience placements and inspiring remote insight days with employers and industries that they would not normally be able to reach due to their geographical location and costs of travel and accommodation.

IEE

SideQuest is a new initiative for 13-19-year-olds to learn a range of key practical and workplace skills during lockdown through designing and building videogames. The scheme is set up by the youth games career service, Into Games and the national trade body, UKIE. Participants will be able to take part remotely, with free software, curriculum mapped worksheets, online tutorials and a community of fellow game builders on the social platforms Twitch and Discord.

Those that take part will have to build a game from scratch in 7 days to a theme set by a well-known UK games studio, during the week, industry professionals will stream masterclasses, tips and careers advice, offering a creative way to develop students understanding about careers in the sector, satisfying a number of Gatsby benchmarks.

If you would like your students to take part, please go to <https://sidequest.org.uk> or email sidequest@intogames.org for more details.
